Colored Ministers' Union. The Washington Colored Ministerial Union held its first session at its new place of meeting for the ensuing year at Metropolitan A. M. E. Church, on M street northwest, at 11 o'clock yesterday.

After the usual devotional exercises and the reading and approval of the minutes of the last meeting the sermon plan was taken up, and the ministers announced the texts and subjects used by them Sunday.

Rev. Dr. W. H. Davenport read a paper-subject, "The Place of Emotion in Religion"-which was listened to with close at-tention. Rev. Dr. O. J. W. Scott, who had just returned from a trip to the south with a Masonic delegation, and who stopped in Atlanta, Macon and other points in Geor-gla, gave a description of his observations of the race feeling there. He stated that he had heard from others expressions of discouragement because colored people were ing compelled to leave home as the result of race prejudice.

Dr. W. H. Davenport reported the follow ing program: "The Life and Times of Hosea," Rev. Dr. O. J. W. Scott, November 5, "The Life and Times of Obadiah," Rev. Dr. P. A. # A SPECIAL SESSION

BOARD OF EDUCATION TO BE HELD THIS AFTERNOON.

A special meeting of the board of education to adjust several matters relating to the salaries of employes of the school system still pending has been called by Admiral Baird for 4 p.m. today. It is expected it will be a short meeting and that merely routine business will be transacted. There is, however, a possibility that the committee on rules may have its report ready for perusal by the full board, and if this is the case some interesting and significant action may be looked for at this time, for it is known that the rules committee, with the advice of Supt. Chancellor, has been preparing to recommend a number of radical changes in the rules to conform with the policy of the board to enforce strict discipline throughout the school system, define authority and fix responsi-

A plan of the superintendent to create a board of supervision, composed of ten or twelve school officials, to which board questions of administration may be re-ferred before being submitted to the board of education, may also be brought before the board this afternoon. In fact, it is likely that this plan will be included in the report of the committee on rules. Mr. Cox is chairman of this committee and the other nembers are Capt. Oyster and Mr. Cook.

Vacancies to Be Filled. Written and oral examinations will be held by the board of examiners for the colored schools Friday and Saturday, November 2 and 3, in the Franklin building, to fill the following vacancies: One supervising principal of grammar schools, head of the schools, one teacher of English and arithmetic in Normal School No. 2, one teacher of German in high schools. For eligibility to examination candidates are required to qualify under one of the following: Graduation from an accredited college or university or graduation from an accredited normal or training school, together with at least five years of experience as a teacher in a high school.

Candidates desiring to enter the above ex aminations must file with the secretary of the board of examiners for colored schools, Armstrong Manual Training School, not later than October 31 a statement of their intention to do so, together with evidence of their eligibility. The secretary is Robert N Mattingly.

Colored People Protest.

Arrangements have been made to hold a mass meeting of colored people next Monday evening at the Mt. Vernon Avenue Baptist Church to devise means for effectively protesting against what is termed the illegal action of the board of education in summarily dismissing employes of the school system without investigations. The chief speaker at a meeting last night in Galbraith Zion Church, at which this de-cision was reached, was Rev. Dr. S. L. Corrothers, who severely denounced the school board, including the three colored members Resolutions were adopted at this meet-ing last night to the effect that "as citizens we have viewed with alarm the many abuses and irregularities practiced by the present board of education and its officers and have expressed our condemnation of the same. The recent action in the case of Supervising Principal F. L. Cardozo in dismissing him without a hearing, and the intimations given through the press and otherwise of the contemplated appointments are nothing less than scandalous jobbery. Therefore, we most earnestly pro-test against the exploitation of the public schools for the personal and private benefit of some of the members of the board of education, and denounce as false and malieducation, and denounce as false and mali-cious the representations which have been put forth as an excuse for such contem-plated action; and we appeal to the sense of decency of the whole public to condemn-such proceedings, and that the committee views with disappointment and disgust the silence of the colored members of the board of education to the reflection and misrep-resentations made by the superintendents and other members of the board relative to the condition of the colored schools, and that, inasmuch as our chosen representa-tion have failed to lift their voices in protest to the false and slanderous attacks upon our schools, we deny that our schools are in any more 'deplorable condition' than the white schools of the city, or that they are in any greater need of sweeping or cleaning out."

SPEAKERS WERE EARNEST.

Property Owners Object to Establishment of Garage.

Declaring that they objected to the tooting of horns and the puffing of engines at all hours of the day and night, and to the odor of gasoline, more than a score of residents and property owners, at a hearing before the District Commissioners today protested against the issuance of a permit for the erection of a public garage in an alley between 18th and 19th streets and Belmont avenue and Columbia road. As is required by the law the protestants are residents and owners of property within 200 feet of the site of the proposed garage, and they claim that the necessary signatures of 75 per cent of residents and prop-erty owners within 200 feet have not been procured, and that the Commissioners, therefore, should not issue the permit. Mrs. M. S. Van Fussen is the applicant for the permit. It was testified that she owns a garage adjoining the site of the proposed establishment. It was brought out at the hearing that the reason the present garage was granted a permit was that it was issued with the understanding that the garage was to be a private one, the consent of property owners under such instances not being necessary. It was asserted that the establishment has been used as a public garage.

Several of the protestants, aside from complaining about the alleged nulsance of a garage, declared that the erection of such a building and its operation in a residential neighborhood would result in depreciation of the value of the property and would mean a financial loss to the property owners interested. Gov. William P. Kellogg, the owner of the property upon which it is proposed to erect the garage and of considerable other prop-erty in the vicinity, and who favored the issuance of the permit, scoffed the idea that property would be depreciated by the establishing of the garage

He expressed the opinion that the erection of a garage in that neighborhood would be an accommodation to the many owners of automobiles living within a radius of a mile. He stated that it manufactured in the stated that it manufactured in the stated that it manufactured is the stated that it manufactured in the stated that it manufactured is such as the stated that it manufactured in the stated that it manufactured is such as the stated is such as the stated is such as the stated is such as the such of a mile. He stated that it was almost a public necessity and that the Commissioners should not stand in the way of the "onward march of public progress," even though the regulations do require the consent of a certain majority of the property owners within

Some of the speakers were so earnest that Commissioner Macfarland, who presided, deemed it proper to interrupt and inform them that the various arguments about the garage being a nuisance and whether or not property in the neighborhood would be depreciated were unnecessary, as the whole matter rested upon the question of law and would be settled accordingly by the Commissioners. The hearing was concluded by Commis sioner West saying that the Commissioners would consider the papers in the case and would dispose of the matter according to the provisions of the regulations governing the erection of automobile garages.

Among those who spoke for the pro-testants were Messrs. Stuart McNamara, E. C. Brandenburg, Charles A. Merrilatt

THE THEATER.

National Theater. "The Vanderbilt Cup" is a typical autonobile comedy. It starts with a rush and a clatter and never allows the auditor to pause long enough to inspect the works or view the scenery. On the rise of the curtain the characters begin talking as fast as the organs of human speech will permit, and the constant flow of quip and song is not interrupted until the curtain finally drops with an unexpected bump and the orchestra strikes up the exit march as a signal that a destination has been reached and the evening's tour through Nonsense land is at an end. One of the chief pleasures afforded by

"The Vanderbilt Cup" is the privilege of seeing "Little Elsie" growing up into the more artistic maturity of "Miss Janis." The theater-going public must always have some feminine divinity to worship, and this season Miss Janis is it. The admira-tion bestowed upon a pretty, petite, viva-cious girl defies analysis. It is a matter of common impulse and not of reason. It is enough to know that the little lady has her public at her feet in blind devotion. It is, of course, in her mimicry that Miss Janis excels; in this she is unsurpassed. There is no doubt as to the stability of her pre-eminence in this piece. She is escorted by a regiment of comedians whose loyal and courageous endeavors would easily suffice to defend a position far less secure. Otis Harlan bubbles, splutters and prances about the stage, the very incarna-tion of breezy hilarity; Charles Dow Clark portrays a rural type that is comic with-out being hackneyed. Henry V. Donnelly, portly, yet not ponderous, contributes a touch of legitimate comedy as well as a sprinkle of song and dance; Jacques Kruger introduces an audacious caricature of John D. Rockefeller, and F. Newton Lindo is indulged in a rather irreverent impersonation of his religiously inclined son, and Hal De Forrest represents the explosive Frenchman, without whom no musical com-edy is complete. There are clever women in the company, too, Miss Blanche Chap-man being melodiously at home in the more responsible musical numbers, and Ella Hatton proving robustly comic as the girl porter in a woman's hotel. And besides these there is a moving picture display, a quartet that utters dulcet strains in the moon-light and the usual list of Gracies, Daisys, Leonas, Eloises, etc., to make up a stage full of femininity. One of the minor roles, that of a grotesque spinster, stands forth with such humorous d'stinctness that it should be more clearly identified than it is on the program. "The Vanderbilt Cup" has no lofty aims nor definite purposes. It will suggest no higher philosophies nor ncite any race riots. But the chances are that any one who sees it will find some-thing and perhaps many things in its multitudinous array of stage devices old and new to compel many a passing smile

Belasco Theater. Cleverly carpentered and right, clean farcical fun is the whims:cal "Before and After," in which Leo Ditrichstein elected to return to this city last evening. On its previous presentation the farce, which has none of the coarseness so common in its kind, found widespread favor, and if the approval shown last night may be taken as an indication it will enjoy another prosperous week in Washington. Love powders as a theme for comedy have been used before, but the method of handling the subject in this play is none the less novel and musing.

Innumerable opportunities for broad and coarse farce are studiously avoided and the whole playlet tingles with humor, infectious and fetching. The play is unobtrusively staged and exceedingly well interpreted by a company far above mediocrity.

Boniface, jr., is the James Jeffreys this season. The role, which is creative in a way, could not have been in more competent hands. For the part of Odetta De himself was in good form, as he invariably "Before and After" is preceded by a cleverly satirical curtain raiser entitled "Nocturno," by Percival Pollard and Leo Columbia Theater.

The Virginian, at the Columbia Theater last evening, began its third Washington engagement, and the popularity of the book and its dramatized version was attested by an enthusiastic audience. Lovers of Owen Wister's novel cannot fail to be pleased with the making of the play, for the skill with which the stories of the rescue of Mollie Wood from drowning; of the mixing up of the babies; of Emily, the hen; of Delmonico's frog ranch, the lynching of Steve and "Spanish," and the shooting of Trampas, episodes in themselves, have been given dramatic presentation, quite satisfies the imagination of the reader, and fully realizes the local color of Wyoming.

Probably the main charm of the play is the truth with which ranch life is given. There are ranch owners, foremen, cowboys and visitors; its christenings, dances, shootings, cattle raids, and the accompaniment of clanking spurs and jingling harness, wild whoops and breath of saloons. It is all out of the west, and of the real quality, and that human nature under all conditions retains much that is lovable and fine is shown not only by the manliness of the Virginian and his love for the little Yankee virginian and his love for the little rankee school teacher, who teaches the boys the Vermont turndown, but also by the spirit of uncondemning brotherhood of the posse that regretfully and remorselessly hang Steve to the pine tree.

Dustin Farnum makes an interesting picture of breezy capacity, humor and compact honesty.

Frank Campeau, as Trampas, supplies all the realism necessary. The subtlety of his impersonation is such that one finds oneself considering not what he is doing, but what he is. He creates the illusion of visions—cowboy life with no distracting lapses into the mere actor.

Chase's Theater.

Periods of intense quiet, alternating with moments of vociferous applause, were the rule last evening at Chase's Theater, particularly during the act of Col. Gaston Bordeverry, announced as "the king of firearms." Col. Bordeverry's act includes the shooting of an evening costume from a lady assistant and the playing of selections on a specially constructed piano. An expose of the methods employed by John T. Fay and Eva Fay in their conception "Thaumaturgy," by M. Granat, D. Herbert and Madam Gertrude, who style themselves "The Phays," and their act 'Flamaturgy," proved interesting. Paul La Croix, with the assistance of a number of hats, entertained for the allotted period Mareena, Nevare and Mareena presented a comedy athletic turn that was a welcome novelty, principally because it was free from boisterousness. Gillett's musical dogs and baboons disported themselves with almost human intelligence. Joseph and Bertha Adelman rendered Xylophone se-lections and the program concluded, as usual, with vitagraph pictures.

Majestic Theater.

A crowded house last night bore evidence that "The Black Crook" is still a name to conjure with. The old spectacle is revised and brought up to date by Emmet O'Connor, and staged with much detail and elaborateness.

Through four acts of glitter and gayety. clever dancing, acrobatic turns and burlesque specialties, Herzog the Crook pursues Rodolph and his fair Amina with his old-time vindictiveness, only to be thwarted at every turn by the timely intervention of Stalacta, the stately queen of the fairles. The cast is in capable hands. Nellie Nichols and Robert Mack have many opportunities for good comedy touches, which they do not neglect. The English pony ballet is light of foot and graceful to look upon, and the four Donnazettas give a finished performance of plain and fancy tumbling. The play is slightly above the usual run of melodramas, and Mr. Davis has put together an interesting plot which deals with a girl of the slums who is rescued from her surroundings and given a home with a minister. It is the latter's desire to place the girl on an equality with himself. With the minister's aid and good surroundings the girl easily comes up to the minister's ex-pectations. New Lyceum Theater.

"The Imperial Burlesquers" returned to this city yesterday and opened for a week's engagement at the New Lyceum with two performances, matinee and night, "A Night in Paris," a farcical musicale, was the first skit on the program, and when this part of the show was concluded the audience was in a merry mood to witness an olio that was above the average. Pauline Moran is the head liner, and made a hit. Gray and Gram, as the musical bell boy and the military maid, captured the audience from the start. Deonzo and McDonald, the comedy coppers; Murphy and Magee, two good Irish comedians, and Zimmer, an amusing juggler, were all good, and received an equal amount of applause. "Off to the Front" completed the performance. The stage settings are the best in the burlesque

FAMILY LOCATED.

Officers Find Wife of Man Who Had Been Dead a Week. William Schoneberger, superintendent of the morgue, yesterday succeeded in locating rlends of Henry D. Brown, who died at the Washington Asylum Hospital a week ago. In his inquiry Mr. Schoneberger had the assistance of Inspector Boardman and Detective Grant. The wife of Brown was found at 207 R street northwest, and although her husband had been dead a week and his body was in the morgue, she had not been advised of it. Brown, who had been employed as a bookkeeper for the George Keen tailoring establishment, left his home the morning of the 14th of this month and did not return. It is said he had remained away from home before and his wife was not alarmed at his absence. Brown fell upon the sidewalk the day mentioned at 8th and E streets northwest. He was unconscious when he reached the Emergency Hospital. The next day he was transferred to the Washington Asylum Hospital in order to make room for emergency eases at the institution first named. Twen ty-four hours after he reached the Washington Asylum Hospital his death occurred. Nothing was known about the relatives of the dead man and his body was removed to the morgue. Letters found in the pockets of his clothing indicated that he had lived at 912 1st street northwest, but a policemar who went to that address failed to ascertain anything about his family.

A second effort to fiid relatives also failed.

Brown has lived at the 1st street address. but the occupants of the house were unable to tell to what part of the city the family had gone. The superintendent of the morgue felt certain that the remains of Brown would be claimed if his relatives could be located and he said he disliked very much to the remains in a grave in potters field, but yesterday there seemed to be no other al-ternative. For a third time he sought the aid of the police, Inspector Boardman being consulted. The latter sent Detective Grant out to make an investigation, and in a short time he succeeded in locating A. F. Ruppert, living at 67 K street northwest, and J. W. Ryer of 1104 K street northeast, Vere Mr. Ditrichstein has secured Miss Jean Newcombe this season, an actress of marked beauty and much finish. The star brothers-in-law of the deceased

They were greatly shocked at hearing of the death of Brown. Mrs. Brown was told of his death and arrangements were made time be explained and the by-laws of o have the body removed from the morgue to the family home. This was done this morning by Undertaker Wise. Arrangements have been made for the funeral to take place tomorrow from the R street home. It is likely that the body will be terred in Mount Olivet cemetery.

DISCRIMINATION IS CHARGED.

Western Railways, It is Alleged, Favor the Oil Trust. Complaints of discrimination in favor of the Standard Oil Company have been filed with the interstate commerce commission by the Merchants and Shippers' Association of Denver. The complaint alleges that the Denver and Rio Grande, Colorado Midland, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, Chicago and Northwestern, Colorado and Southern, Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific railways have been subjecting the merchants, dealers and shippers of Leadville, Glenwood Springs and Grand Junction, in Colorado, and intermediate points, to the payment of unjust and unreasonable rates. In many cases the rates constitute greater compention of different commodities under sub-stantially similar circumstances and conditions for the shorter distance to the Col direction to points in Utah, such as Ogden and Salt Lake City, as far as Spanish The Standard Oil Company alleges no such higher rates for the short haul are made in its case, the rate from Chicago to Leadville for its products being the same as

"These commodities," says the petition, in referring to oil and oil products, "as your petitioner is informed, are absolutely controlled and monopolized, both at wholesale and retail, by a corporation known as the Standard Oil Company and its subsidiary corporations. That the said company by reason of its great nower and influence has eason of its great power and influence has been able to exact concessions from the de fendant railroads, and in no case is a charge made for the transportation of oil, petroleum and oil products greater for the short than for the long haul. Postmaster General Cortelyou has issued an order to the effect that on and after November 1, proximo, letters originating in New Zealand and prepaid by postage stamps at the rate of 1 penny, or 2 cents, for each half ounce, will be delivered to addressees in the United States without surcharge or the collection of additional postage. The postmaster general of New Zeland, who is now prime minister, was a delegate to the universal postal convention at Rome, and on his return from the convention called upon the Postmaster Gen-eral and at that interview, as well as in recent correspondence, strongly urged this concession in the interest of the people of New Zealand who desire to trade with the United States, and who find them-selves, at present, in the position of having to pay 5 cents letter postage on correspondence delivered in the United States, while correspondence carried in the same vessel and transported across the territory of the United States for delivery in Can-ada and Great Britain is carried at the rate of 1 penny, or 2 cents, per each half ounce. Since penny postage was estab-lished between Great Britain and her colonies, some years ago, the question of 2-cent postage between the United States and Great Britain has been advocated by people on both sides of the Atlantic, but as yet no official action has been taken by either country. A substantial reduction authorized country. A substantial reduction authorized by the recent congress of Rome, effective October 1, 1907, provides that postage on letters originating in countries which have not the metric system shall be 5 cents for the first ounce and 3 cents for each additional ounce. This will be at the rate of 2 cents per half ounce on letter packets weighing as much as two ounces.

AN EARLY ADJUSTMENT

COMPLAINT AGAINST C. AND O. PROMPTLY MET.

The complaint of members of the Jobbers and Shippers' Association against the Chesapeake and Ohio railway relative to the company taking from its schedule the daily through freight car between this city and Staunton, Va., as stated in yesterday's Star, is in a fair way to adjustment this after-

A meeting of the freight committee of the association was held yesterday afternoon at the headquarters in the Munsey building, and it was decided at once to confer with the officials of the railway to see if the service discontinued could not again be restored to the schedule.

Later in the afternoon several of the members of the committee met officials of the railway for a consultation, and at its close the officials stated that the general freight agent of the company would be asked for a report as to why the car was

According to the railway men, the car was removed from the daily service because of the fact that there was not enough goods being shipped from this city to Staunton and points in the valley of Virginia to justify the rallway company keeping the daily schedule in force. The rea-son given, it is stated, for discontinuing the service at this time was that hereto-fore the car has been hauled whether it was filled or not, but since the completion of the Potomac railroad yards it has not been found to be as convenient to haul the car from that point. Agree to Ask for Report.

The members of the association freight committee urged the railway men to at once return the car to the service, and, as stated, they agreed to at once ask for a report upon the subject. During the course of the meeting it was stated the rallway men were unanimous in their desire to do anything they could in the line of helping the Greater Washington movement, but in the case under consideration they were not aware that they had worked a hardship upon the promoters of the greater city idea.

The report of the general freight agent of the railway, it was stated this morning, will probably be presented to the meeting of the board of directors of the Jobbers and Shippers' Association Thursday afternoon, when it is expected that the matter will be brought to an amicable settlement. Assistant Secretary Woodworth Clum of the Jobbers and Shippers' Association stated today that there was no desire on the part of the association to antagonize the railroads in any way. "We know they are inclined to give us consideration," he said, "and we believe that when the matter is thoroughly understood it will be straight-ened out."

Joint Committee of Fifteen. Many of the members of the different business organizations of the city are interested in the meeting of the joint committee of fifteen members of the Board of Trade, Business Men's Association and the Jobbers and Shippers' Association, which will be held this evening at the offices of the American Security and Trust Company. At this meeting the question of the space that will be taken by the local merchants

He said it is the intention of the members in charge of the matter to make a personal canvass of the merchants of the city in order to procure many of those whose names are not at present in-cluded on the list of membership of the association.

Loss in the Isle of Pines. HAVANNA. October 23 .- Contrary to the statements contained in the report received by the government, it now apears that the Isle of Pines suffered considerable damage from the cyclone. Many houses at Nueva. Gerona and Santa Fe and in the intervening country were blown down, much damage was done to the fruit crops, and the wireless station was wrecked. The steamer Cristobal Colon, a small coasting steamer plying between the Isle of Pines and the mainland, which made the passage during the storm, reached her destination without any loss of life. The garrison of American marines rendered valuable service at the height of the cyclone in saving lives and property at Nueva Gerona. B.
